I am currently employed as a Dubbing Mixer at Storm HD. In my position I mix a variety of programs for broadcast, therefore I'm very familiar with mixing R128 but I have also mixed several films for cinema, so I am confident in both stereo and 5.1 surround sound. Recording voiceover is very much part of my every day, and I have led several ADR sessions.

I learned most of my audio and Pro Tools skills through my dad who is also a Dubbing Mixer and have been very lucky to build on that knowledge from other mixers I've worked with over the last few years. I thoroughly enjoy working face to face with clients, managing their needs and expectations and have had very good feedback from producers and directors I've worked with.

Recently I have been working as a Dialogue Editor on Brassic; an 8 episode Sky Drama. A lot of my background has been in documentary as you'll see from my credits, and this new challenge has pushed me to look for more work within drama, and higher budget documentaries. I am also familiar with foreign language editing/mixing since my days at DMS mixing international versions for studios such as Warner and Sony.
